

WANT ADVICE OF AMERICAN

Cancer Specialist May Go to Berlin to Make Examination of the Emperor.

SYMPTOMS CAUSE ANXIETY

Restlessness is Increasing, and as a Result His General Health is Suffering.

BY MALCOLM CLARKE.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.
Copyright, 1903.)

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—It is stated here on very good authority that the famous New York physician and surgeon, Dr. George F. Shrady, who is an authority on cancerous diseases, is about to be asked to come to Berlin to give his opinion of the Kaiser's condition.

Should Dr. Shrady be called in the fact would, however, as far as possible, be said that it was the intention of the Kaiser to have it go to New York.

Dentists in Trouble.

The dentists of Germany are on the warpath against those of their colleagues who have graduated from American colleges.

Though dentistry is well advanced in Germany, and many German dentists have won international reputation, it is an acknowledged fact that in certain branches of dentistry no German dentist can compare with the American dentist. Wherever an American dentist has started in business he has always put his German confederate in the shadow, and for this reason a very strong agitation against the invaders was inaugurated some time ago.

One of the last sufferers is Dr. Henry Ruppel, from Chicago, who, when he opened an office in Danzig, drove several Germans out of business by taking their customers away.

He was, however, some time ago arrested because he had no diploma from any German college, being a graduate of Chicago Dental College.

The lower court fined him 300 marks, but he appealed the case.

The Court of Appeals, however, also went against him, raising the fine to 3,000 marks, and forbidding him to practice, as there was no law recognizing American dental colleges in Germany.

It will hereafter be necessary for every American dentist wishing to practice in Germany to take a full course at a German dental college.

Kaiser Wilhelm, who has always been kept secret, as his presence would naturally cause intense alarm.

THE NEW LORD CHAMBERLAIN AND EMPRESS OF ENGLAND

Though the condition of the wound in the Kaiser's throat is said to be satisfactory, there are symptoms present which cause Professor Schmidt considerable anxiety, according to statements from persons intimately connected with this famous surgeon.

For this reason he is said to wish to consult the most eminent authority on the case, and if the Emperor will consent the American authority on cancer may be called.

The restlessness of the Kaiser is increasing and he is unable to conceal that he is greatly worried, and as a result his general health is suffering, so that it is possible that he may go to the Riviera for the winter, in spite of all official denials.

Many "Soldiers."

One of the last acts of Kaiser Wilhelm before he submitted to the operation for the suspicious growth in his throat, was to send a personal letter of congratulation to a business man of Dresden.

The happy recipient of this letter had a few days before notified His Majesty of the birth of his twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh child.

With his first wife he had twelve and with his second and present fifteen children.

He has twenty sons living, and the Kaiser's letter is said to have especially congratulated him upon having been able to furnish the Fatherland with so many "brave German soldiers."

May Visit Us.

The Kaiser, who is said to value the cablegram sent him by President Roosevelt very much, has evidently a surprise in store for the people of the United States.

He has suddenly ordered that the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern be made ready to sail in the beginning of February.

It would be impossible for the Kaiser to go to Norway in the heart of the winter, and there was considerable guessing at Kiel as to where the yacht would be sent.

Prince Henry, when asked by a friend, a warm admirer of old King Christian of Denmark, who celebrated his forty years' jubilee on last Sunday, was very much surprised that he was not able personally to congratulate the King.

A special delegation, however, was sent with exceedingly valuable gifts, and it is said that it is the intention of the Kaiser to return to Denmark all the military colors and standards captured from the Danes by the Prussians in the war of 1864.

He could hardly do anything which would please the Danish King more.

BAG OF BEANS WERE SENT TO POPE PIUS

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.
Copyright, 1903.)

ROME, Nov. 21.—A mistake of the Postal Department which has just become known has caused considerable amusement here. A farmer near this city recently mailed a small bag of beans intended for a tailor whose name is Santo Padre. This tailor happened to reside in the same Christian name as the present Pope Pius and the package was accordingly addressed by the farmer to Santo Padre Pio Sarto. This translated into English may mean to the tailor Pio Santo Padre or to the Holy Father Pio Sarto. The postal authorities accordingly sent the bag of beans to the Vatican, where they were sent to the kitchen. And the mistake was not discovered until the tailor made a complaint about the loss of the beans.

KING LEOPOLD IS WORRIED OVER HIS ARMY

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.
Copyright, 1903.)

BRUSSELS, Nov. 21.—King Leopold is extremely worried over the existing state of affairs in the Belgian army. Hardly enough soldiers are left to mount guard in front of the royal palaces and take care of the horses in the cavalry and artillery regiments. Owing to the government's lack of money the minister of war some time ago issued a general order granting furloughs to all private soldiers who wanted to visit their homes between now and New Year.

PALACE FOR VISITORS

French Government Contemplates Building One to Entertain Royal Guests.

MOST MYSTERIOUS CRIME

BL PAUL VILLIERS.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.
Copyright, 1903.)

PARIS, Nov. 21.—Royal visitors have become so common in Paris, hardly a month passing that some person of royal blood is not here officially or incognito, but since the days of the Empire the city has not had a place suitable for the night guests.

A person of royal blood arriving in this city must either accept the hospitality of the Ambassador of his country or go on to an ordinary hotel and mix with the common crowd.

To put an end to the inconvenience of this the French government has now decided to build a palace exclusively for the reception of royal visitors spending their time in this city.

The site has already been selected very near the Eiffel Tower, conveniently located near the Bois de Boulogne and Les Champs Elysees, and as the ground on which this new palace de souverains is to be built is already state property, all that is necessary to do is to have the chamber vote a credit sufficient for the erection of the building.

Mysterious Crime.

A most mysterious crime has been discovered at Montigny.

In 1891 a young girl, Mlle. Gross, died, and was buried in the cemetery of the city, which at that time was located in a very lonely place.

A few days ago a grave digger in opening the grave of the young girl after the lease had expired, found to his astonishment that somebody had placed another coffin on top of the coffin already there.

This new coffin, which was hermetically sealed with lead seals, was opened by the authorities; inside was discovered the corpse of a young woman whose feet had been cut off and placed on each side of her head.

The head, which was very well preserved, showed that she had been a woman of extraordinary beauty with a mass of blond hair, held together with a small tortoise comb.

The police are trying to discover who put this coffin there, but so far they have absolutely no clue, as the time when the crime must have been committed can only be given approximately, though it is evident from the condition of the body, in the sealed coffin that it cannot have been in the ground for more than a comparatively short time.

Nearly Completed.

The large figure of Christ on Calvary, which the Catholics of Bretagne intend to erect opposite the statue of Ernest Renan at Treger, is now almost finished.

The figure of the Saviour is six feet high and made from a single block of French granite.

The cross is nine feet high, and five figures are grouped around its foot.

The group will stand upon a base of granite with a bas-relief showing Saint Yves, the patron of Treger, standing between the poor and the rich.

Over this relief there is an inscription with the words of Julian the Apostate: "Thou hast conquered, O Galilee!"

On the two ends of the foundation are seen the coat of arms of Pius X. and the Archbishop of Saint Brieux.

The monument will be unveiled in May, 1904.

On the Wane.

Parlous cannot very long remain faithful to any fact, especially if it goes against their vanity, and as automobile at sixty miles an hour necessitates a most ugly costume to protect against wind and dust, the enthusiasm for this sport is on the wane.

The dealers in automobiles are all complaining that this season they have looked forward to with great expectations, has been a pronounced failure.

People no longer want to pay thousands of francs for an automobile, and it is not been for the Americans, as one prominent dealer said, very few dealers would have been able to pull through.

The airship is going to take the place of the grimy automobiles; of this there is no doubt.

The recent fifty-mile trip of the Le-Laudy airship and the daily sight of Santos Dumont, climbing an immense bird high in the air beyond all dust and stench of gasoline have filled the hearts of the Parisian aristocracy with new hope and ambition, and the prediction has been made that in five years the airships will be as common as the autos are to-day.

Race Suicide.

The statistics of the War Department for the last year, ending October 1, show that the number of recruits who have been found fit for military service is $1.00 smaller than the year before.

The fact, which is repeated every year, never fails to fill the hearts of every French patriot with grave apprehension.

For this reason it is thought likely that the chamber will, with new laws enabling the government to reward the fathers of large families, and in case they are poor to give them a regular pension.

Several Senators are already busy drafting bills to put an end to the alarming increase of race suicide.

Interest royalty in the sufferings of the refugees from Macedonia is evidently a great success. The Franco sent appeals to all the sovereigns of Europe, asking them to help make a fund to provide assistance for destitute Macedonian Christians who had been driven out of their country by the Turks.

Joseph immediately contributed $200.00 to the fund and the Czar and the Kaiser, as well as all the minor sovereigns, have responded in the most generous way.

Heed Nature's Warning.

No. 1117 Terpsichore Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA., March 30, 1903.

I suffered for two years with profuse as well as too frequent menstruation, sometimes returning after a cessation of ten to sixteen days, causing great prostration, faintness and debility. I had used so much useless medicine that I had become completely discouraged when Wine of Cardui was brought to my notice.

I used it for three days, when I found to my great relief that I felt generally better. After two months' continued use my health had been greatly improved and I seemed like a new woman. I became regular. The flow was painless and natural, and in four months I was in perfect health.

Words can but poorly express my gratitude and happiness over restored health, and I shall always be a firm friend of your grand medicine.
